Introduction

Scrapbook collections offer historians a number of perspectives to the past. First, they focus on the collector. What were her interests? Why was the collection kept for so many years? What was its use? Clearly, the Holmesburg collection is a window into a community history and a view of what was important to the people of Holmesburg at the time.

In the case of librarian Katharine M. Petty, she wanted to collect newspaper clippings about Holmesburg that could be useful to the library. Petty's focus on the history of the area is marked by the inclusion of over 100 stories entitled "Just Twenty Years Ago" taken from the Frankford Dispatch. (Original papers at the Frankford Historical Society). Clearly, much of the scrapbook comes from the Dispatch and other local papers.

Newspaper clippings in the collection covered the entire Northeast with special attention paid to Tacony, Torresdale, Holmesburg, Bustleton, Wissinoming and Bucks County. Local institutions were also part of the collection. Reports on schools, Poor House, Holmesburg Prison, Shallcross School for truants in Torresdale and Camp Happy summer camp for the city were also continuous stories.

Social activities in the community were also mentioned. Plays done by the Forrest Home for Actors, Church activities in Holmesburg, horse shows, races on the Delaware river and Fish and Game events were all covered for local consumption.

The scrapbooks were kept in the library for use by those seeking information about local events and history. Petty loved the task of collecting clippings, which she continued for just short of 40 years. She left them when she retired in 1948.

The enclosed Guide to the Collection gives some idea as to where these materials can be found. After finding a story you would like to read, use the guide to research the five scrapbooks of the collection by year and then page number. Open the correct book and page to access what interest you. Enjoy Holmesburg History!!!
